INTRODUCTION

The report summarizes all records of mammals and birds throughout the trip besides records of reptiles, amphibians and butterflies from travelling in two separate parts of India: Three weeks in Southern India and one week in Gujarat.

Being first time visitors to Southern India our visit was a round-trip to a number of spectacular cultural highlights besides selected wildlife areas. We had a vehicle with driver during most of the visit and were completely independent except for a six day programme to Salim Ali Bird Sanctuary (Thattekad) and Anamalai NP (Top Slip) with a professional bird guide. Despite whatever programme we had on a day a log of all observations was kept throughout. Figures are not accurate counts but rather rough estimates filled into the computer each evening.

The South is very relaxed compared to the hectic Gangetic plains in Northern India – it is genuine holiday country. Our cultural activities were in particular directed towards a number of Hindu temples and a stay in the cultural melting-pot of Kochi on the westcoast. Besides, the visit to Tarangambadi (Trankebar) was a very special experience as this former Danish tradeport (1616-1845) still holds buildings, churches etc. from the period as a Danish colony.

The observations of mammals by far surpassed expectations. Lion-tailed Macaque was the overall star and the observation of a roadside flock was indeed spectacular. But also the Nilgiri Tahr, the other primates (Bonnet Macaque, Nilgiri Langur and Tufted Grey Langur) and the squirrel diversity was something hoped for. Elephants always make a day but other large mammals proved difficult and remained unseen. A Gaur within smelling distance was the closest.

The birdlife is extremely rich – in particular the unique diversity induced by high variety of habitats in the Western Ghats. These mountains are spectacular when undisturbed – steep and forest clad or undulating grassland - in sharp contrast to the degraded parts and here in particular the evergreen ‘plastic’-landscapes formed by the tea-plantations. Most forest birds came in as hoped for and we saw most of the endemics – even when following the recent trend of splitting a number of species. Sri Lanka Frogmouth was the main target, but many other nice species could be mentioned: Spot-billed Pelican, Black Baza, Mountain Hawk-Eagle (southern subspecies), Painted Bush-Quail, Nilgiri Wood Pigeon, Blue-faced Malkoha, Brown Fish Owl, Malabar Trogon, Blue-bearded Bee-eater, White-bellied Woodpecker, Heart-spotted Woodpecker, Indian Pitta, Malabar Lark, Hill Swallow, Nilgiri Pipit, Forest Wagtail, Grey-headed Bulbul, Yellow-throated Bulbul, White-bellied & Nilgiri Blue Robin, Black-and-Orange Flycatcher and many others. A Tawny Eagle at Munnar, a new site for Yellow-throated Bulbul (close to Top Slip) and three records of the ‘Phillipine’ Shrike – the eastern subspecies of Brown Shrike – are unusual records.

Following the three weeks in Southern India, UGS had an extension week in Gujarat – revisiting sites we both visited two years ago. In particular a five days stay with Jugal Tiwari at his ‘Center for Desert and Ocean’ near the Banni grassland was a most spectacular experience. Following a good monsoon there was plenty of water and birdlife was exceptionally rich. The Gujarat specialties were all co-operative: Great Indian Bustard, White-naped Tit and Grey Hypocolius. Unexpected were the first records in Gujarat of Caspian Plover and Water Pipit – the first a genuine vagrant but the last probably a regular visitor in wet years. Jugal Tiwari’s finding of the Kutch as a regular wintering-area for Sand Martins was confirmed. Some Grey-necked Buntings with yellowish wash to the eye-ring were a challenge to the law of the guide-books. Records in February of Steppe Buzzard (3) and White-winged Black Tern (5) are perhaps also unusual.

A brief visit to the Little Rann of Kutch produced the expected observations of the Khur but also the start of the spring-migration of Demoiselle Crane with 2000+ arriving during the morning. A final last day in Delhi was partly spent at the Sultanpur Jheel.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Kaj Halberg and Ole Frode Jacobsen gave good advice during the planning phase of the trip. Hans Jørgen Bruun made as usual the booking of air-tickets. Thorkild Michaelsen did good guiding around Mysore.

Kalypso Adventures worked top professional with the vehicle and some accommodation and can only be strongly recommended. Thomas did the communication & booking, Satyan was a most pleasant companion and expert guide and Gorgi did all the driving throughout and was always in a splendid mood and helpful.

Jugal Tiwari, his family & staff made the visit to the Banni grassland a most memorable experience. Here I also enjoyed a brief chance-meeting with the local ornithologists, Shantilal N. Varu and Ashwin Pomal.

Mr. Malik at Desert Couser in Zainabad as usual helped with lots of information and generously took me on a couple of exciting spot-lighting drives.

Captain Suresh Sharma is thanked for the most pleasant last day around Delhi with multiple good discussions. Looking forward to the up-coming projects!

Lene Smith and Uffe Gjøøl Sørensen

PRACTICALITIES

Air tickets were booked through Hans Jørgen Bruun at BTI Nordic (Aarhus, Denmark). Copenhagen-Chennai & Bangalore-Copenhagen was combined for Lene, while Uffe had return-flight Delhi-Copenhagen and some domestic flights (Bangalore-Mumbai, Mumbai-Bhuj, Ahmedabad-Delhi). International flights were with Lufthansa while domestic flights were with Jet Airways - all flights on schedule and with no technical problems.

Southern India: Our hotel the first night in Mamallapuram was booked over the net and included transfer from Chennai Airport (1 hour drive). On the morning of the second day, we were picked up by a driver booked for 20 days through Kalypso Adventures in Kochi (735 € all costs included). KA is specialized in visits by birders to southern India and they can only be strongly recommended (Thomas ; info@kalypsoadventures.com). Everything worked smoothly. Gorgi was a most pleasant and efficient driver, who always took the necessary security precautions in the often rather chaotic Indian traffic. His English is sufficient for a smooth arrangement and he has an excellent outlook for up-coming practicalities on the way – and was constantly days ahead of us in the planning. He is used to the traditional birder-route and therefore knows e.g. where to stop for Yellow-throated Bulbul at Bodi Ghat. The car was a traditional Indian Ambassador. Not known for its speed and modern comfort but roomy and perfect for our use. In general the trip was improvised from day to day following a plan of where to go. We had no hotel-reservations but faced few problems – in Madurai the medium class hotels near the Temple were fully booked and we ended up a little out of the centre on our arrival and in a one star hotel on the second night with direct view over the temple. Exception from this general approach was the three days at Thattekad and the three days at Top Slip, where we had asked Kalypso Adventures to arrange accommodation. Top Slip is known for cumbersome bureaucracy and we didn't have the time to find such extra challenge amusing. In addition for these six days we had hired Satyan Meppayur as expert guide (270 € incl. accommodation & transport costs). Satyan is one of the top-birders of Kerala and he has a vast knowledge of the birds, their calls etc – he literally brought our birding up to a higher level.

Gujarat: Access to the Banni grassland and other interesting sites in western Gujarat has improved dramatically since Jugal Tiwari has established his 'Center for Desert and Ocean' (CEDO) in Moti Virani near Nakhtrana, 53 km west of Bhuj. I stayed at Jugal's excellent centre for five nights and enjoyed every second. Jugal has an intimate knowledge of the whole area and knows the whereabouts of the tricky Hypocolius. Finding this unique species on its most eastern winter-sites without knowing their roosts will be like finding the famous needle in the hay-stack. It became long days in the field with activities from dawn to dusk – and discussions continuing after dark. Jugal has a 4W and can arrange trips to any place around, guiding and full-board accommodation (with excellent Gujarati food) at very reasonable prices. Contact by e-mail: cedoindia@yahoo.com, telephone 02835-200025 or 221284, cell-phone 09825248135. CEDO is located on the quite outskirts of the Moti Virani village and is within walking distance from hills with a fair chance for White-naped Tit! - Jugal organized my transfer to the Little Rann of Kutch at Zainabad. Here I stayed at the long established Desert Coursers and enjoyed the relaxed atmosphere and smoothly organized jeep-trips morning and afternoon to the nearby Kutch - lots of birds and the handsome Wild Asses are a guarantee. I stayed two nights and had an early transfer (04:00-06:15) to Ahmedabad Airport for my morning-flight to Delhi (local taxi, 1000 Rs).

New Delhi: I was picked up by Capt. Suresh Sharma (reptilist and tour leader, Wildhiss) and taken on a nice walk around Sultanpur Jheel – south of Gurgaon and close to the airport. Rest of the day was spent discussing multiple issues and visits to book-shops at Connaught Place in the centre before I was taken to the International Airport for my return flight.

Strikes seem not be an uncommon theme in Southern India and they may cause unforeseen problems. A strike in the transport sector of Kerala on the 25th of January forced us to rush to the Eravikulam NP late in the afternoon on the 24th as access to the Park was unlikely on the following day. Our drive to Kochi on the 25th was only initiated during the afternoon when the driver and lodge-manager felt it was possible to reach Kochi without problems. The strike had an obvious impact as we drove on nearly empty roads almost until Kochi. Later in Karnataka a general strike was close to blocking our last two days. Negotiations related to an interstate agreement btw Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh of how to share use of water in the rivers caused outspoken discontent among farmers in Karnataka. When the problem became imminently threatening we checked up on information at hotels, newspapers etc. whenever possible. We were just about to cancel our planned programme for the last two days for a stay at some hotel near the airport in Bangalore. However, on grounds of a four day long Aero India show in Bangalore with international attendance the strike was delayed from Friday to Monday, when we (and other visitors) were well out of the state.

Unavoidable for a trip to Southern India with its new and refreshing view on the systematics of Indian birds. Vol. 1 with the plates is acceptable in the field but it's a limitation that the text only gives information on fieldcharacters. I.e. information of habitat is often ugently needed. Vol. 2 contains a wealth of information. I never got used to the histograms of song and calls but for a longer stay these are undoubtedly useful.

SITE NOTES

For Southern India there is not much to add to Kazmierczak & Singh (1998). Having a guide for six days made our birding here even easier. The record of Yellow-troated Bulbul at Azhiyar Ghat Road (at the view-point by hairpin 9) is conveniently near Top Slip and may save many a visit to Bodi Ghat – if it is a regular site. Western part of Gujarat is not covered in detail in Kazmierczak & Singh. Birding here is very much facilitated by the opportunity to hire Jugal Tiwari as a guide. The Hypocolius roosts are in most years occupied from November to late March with some variation from year to year. They are partly on private land and visits to these still remote rural areas need discretion and good local contacts. Jugal can fascilite all this. The White-naped Tit is quite a difficult species. It occurs in low desities and moves around a lot.

ADDITIONAL USEFUL ADDRESSES

Accomodation in Munnar:

The Tea Sanctuary, Kanan Devan Hills Plantation Company Private Limited, KDPH House, Munnar-685 612, India, e-mail: runsini\_jacob@rediffmail.com. Co-ordinator/Operations by Runsini P. Jacob. Mobile 9447521894.

There are a few very good rooms available in this former residence of a tea estate owner. Very colonial style. While the location in the middle of a large tea plantation makes the site a bit boring in respect of the birds, the estate is part of the big Tata Tea Company and they issue a special permit for using your own vehicle on visits to the tourist-area of Eravikulam NP (access here is otherwise in busses run by the Park). A very good advantages and this also makes it possible to leave the Park after the formal closing hour of 17:00.

Accomodation in Mudumalai:

Forest Hills Farm & Guest House, Bokkapuram, Masinagudi Post, The Nilgiris, 643 223 South India. E-mail: contact@foresthills-resort.com. Web-site: www.foresthills-resort.com.

The guesthouse is well run and has a number of huts and good food. It is one among a number of small lodges around Masinagudi. However, we can warmly recommend it for the junglewalk guided by the manager, Mr. K. Radha Krishnan. This was through dense forest and up steep ravines and slopes. Exciting beyond words.

Accomodation in Zainabad:

Desert Coursers. Telephone 02757-241333 (the lodge) or -241220 (residence). A well run lodge with excellent food and well organized jeep rides both morning and afternoon. The owners, the Malik family, has very detailed knowledge of the wildlife around and can assist with up-dates on most species.

LISTS OF RECORDS

Notes are summarized in three sections: SI: Southern India, G: Gujarat and D: New Delhi-area. A * indicates that photo-documentation of the species was obtained during the trip.

MAMMALS Systematic and sequence follows Duff, A. & A. Lawson. 2004. Mammals of the World. A Checklist. A & C Black, London.

- 1 Indian (Black-naped) Hare Lepus nigricollis. SI: 28/1 faeces Thattekkad Bird Sanctuary, 4/2 1 Forest Hills, 1 near Forest Hills. G: 10/2 2 btw Moti Virani and Fulay, 15/2 2 (spot-lighting; farmland) dry Kutch near Zainabad.
- 2 *Malabar Giant Squirrel Ratufa indica. SI: 28/1 2 Urulanthanni (Thattekkad), 29/1 1 Bhoothathankettu (by Irrigation Dam) (Thattekkad), 30/1 2 Sholayar Forest (Kerala), 2 Puthuthottam (4 km from Valparai), 1/2 2 Ascent to Top Slip, 3/2 1 Caimhill Forest (Ooty), 1 Singhur Ghat, 1 Forest bus drive (Theppakadu, Mudumalai), 4/2 4 walk from Forest Hills (Mudumalai), 2 Bandipur NP.
Layard's Striped Squirrel Funambulus layardi. Records believed to be this species near Munnar and Top Slip following the identification characters mentioned in Menon (2003) has proven to be Jungle Striped Squirrel (Dr. Nammur Ommer, pers. comm..)
- 3 *Three-striped Palm Squirrel Funambulus palmarum. SI: 19/1 30+ Mamallapuram, 20/1 1 Mamallapuram, 2 Vedanthangal Bird Sanctuary, 21/1 1 drive Tarangambadi to Thanjavur, 3 Brishadishwra temple, 22/1 3 Rock Fort Temple, Trichy, 23/1 15+ Bodi Ghat, 24/1 2 Bodi Ghat, 26/1 Kochi Fort, 5/2 2 Chamundi Hills, 7/2 1 drive Mysore to Hassan, 2 Belur, 8/2 2 Sravana Belgola.
- 4 Five-striped Palm Squirrel Funambulus pennantii. G: 10/2 3 Fulay, 2 Vyar hills near Nakhatrana, 11/2 4 driving to Naliya grassland, 13/2 1 Pakhdo Hills near Moti Virani, 2 Banni Grassland, 14/2 30 Desert Courser (Zainabad), 15/2 30 Desert Courser (Zainabad), D: 16/2 15 Sultanpur Jheel.
- 5 Dusky Striped Squirrel Funambulus sublineatus. SI: 29/1 1 Bhoothathankettu (by Irrigation Dam) (Thattekkad), 31/1 2 Top Slip, 3/2 1 Singhur Ghat.
- 6 Jungle Striped Squirrel Funambulus tristriatus. SI: 25/1 5+ Cardemomme Estate near Munnar, 30/1 1 Azhiyar Ghat Road, 31/1 1 Top Slip, 1 Ascent to Top Slip, 1/2 1 near Banyan Tree Homestay. Identification of this species confirmed after communication with Dr. Nammur Ommer, Wildlife Department (Kerala). Despite Menon (2003) describes the species is indistinguishable from Three-striped Palm Squirrel then it is not: Rufous tone to forehead and cheeks and base of tail combined with slight darker overall fur-colour and whitespeckled tail are diagnostic characters.
- 7 Un-identified Gerbil Muridae sp. G: 15/2 2 dry Kutch near Zainabad, 16/2 2 drive Zainabad to Ahmedabad.
- 8 House Mouse Mus musculus. 13/1 2 Moti Virani.
- 9 Lesser Bandicoot Rat Bandicota bengalensis. 12/2 1 seen + immense numbers of burrows drive in Banni grassland, 13/2 immense number of burrows Servo Dhand.
- 10 [Indian Porcupine Hystrix indica]. SI: 6/2 2 quills Brahmagiri WS.
- 11 Small Indian Civet Viverricula indica. SI: 1/2 1 near Banyan Tree Homestay.
- 12 Jungle Cat Felis chaus. G: 15/2 1 Zainabad.
- 13 [Leopard Panthera panter]. SI: 4/2 faeces + 2 days old kill of a Spotted Deer walk from Forest Hills (Mudumalai).
- 14 [Tiger Panthera tigris]. SI: 31/1 track Top Slip - morning, 4/2 claw marks in trees walk from Forest Hills (Mudumalai).
- 15 Small Indian Mongoose Herpestes auropunctatus. G: 11/2 1 driving to Naliya grassland.
- 16 *Grey Mongoose Herpestes edwardsii. SI: 3/2 1 near Forest Hills (Masainagudi). G: 9/2 1 near Moti Virani, 10/2 1 Vyar hills near Nakhatrana, 11/2 1 feamle 3 juveniles driving to Naliya grassland.
- 17 *Ruddy Mongoose Herpestes smithii. SI: 4/2 1 ad + 1 immature Bandipur NP.

- 18 Stripe-necked Mongoose Herpestes urva. SI: 4/2 1 Bandipur NP.
- 19 Golden Jackal Canis aureus. SI: 31/1 1 near Baynan Tree lodge. G: 11/2 1+2 Pingleshwar, 13/2 1 drive Fulay to Moti Virani.
- 20 *[Sloth Bear Melursus ursinus]. SI: 1/2 track Top Slip - morning, 4/1 2 tracks + digged holes walk from Forest Hills (Mudumalai).
[Honey Badger Mellivora capensis]. G: 11/2 tracks?? Jathavera Forest and nearby village.
- 21 Long-eared Hedgehog Hemichinus collaris. G: 12/2 1 drive btw Fulay and Moti Virama.
- 22 Flying Fox Pteropus giganteus. SI: 20/1 10+ Vadanthangal Bird Sanctuary.
- 23 Un-identified Bat. SI: Hz means frequency record by use of my bat detector. I have no details of frequencies used by Indian bats – so the records made were just a bit of extra fun. Not very many bats recorded, though. 19/1 at least two species perhaps more after sunset at the large rock panel – a small species flying like a typical bat and a significant larger with an almost falcon-like direct flight., 20/1 1+ temple in Chidambaram, 21/1 1 + heard

A highly unexpected record: There seems only to be few previous records from the Subcontinent. Details will be published elsewhere. The bird was seen resting inactively at the transition between mudflat and permanent water in a saline lake. Thousands of other waders were actively feeding around the bird. All birds were disturbed and the Caspian Plover could not be relocated. Seen together with Mongolian Plover, Marsh Sandpiper and Little Stint.

First records from Gujarat. The species is known from the Indus Valley in neighbouring Pakistan. During winter it is a typical wetland species and it seems possible it could be a regular visitor to Gujarat – at least in seasons following good monsoon – like this season. Characters noted within the variation of the likely ssp. blankinstoni.

Late in the afternoon, singles or small flocks up to five birds were passing over-head, while we were waiting for herons and cranes to initiate movements to their night-roosts. A characteristic tsip-call drew my attention to the birds and realizing these to be small pipits and the call not being the slightly buzzing tsip call of Tree Pipit Anthus trivialis – the most likely small pipit-species in Gujarat – I was on full alert. One and five birds landed briefly on a gravel road less than 30 m ahead and good telescope-views immediately revealed the birds to be Water Pipits. One stayed so long that there was time to call Jugal, who also saw this single bird well. We returned to the same spot the following evening and reconfirmed the identification and Jugal succeeded in obtaining a single photo. Obviously, the Water Pipits came to night-roost in the long grass. The photo shows a Water Pipit taken by Jugal at the same place a few days after my visit.

 (b) Ssp. feldegg ('Black-headed Yellow Wagtail'). G: 14/2 3 bridge across Little Rann of Kutch (N of Maliya). Call not the usual skarp, rolling 'shreep' but either a shorter, rolling 'sreee' or a clear 'pseuu' – very flava-like. I have never heard a flava-like call from typical feldegg-birds despite hundreds of observation in SE Europe, the Middle East and NE-Africa.
 (c) Ssp. beema ('Sykes Yellow Wagtail'). G: 15/2 1 male bird-lake near Zainabad.

(b) Ssp. lucionensis ('Phillippine' Shrike): SI: 29/1 1 female/immature Bhoothathankettu (by Irrigation Dam) (Thattekad), 1 adult near Hornbill Camp (Thattekad), 30/1 1 Sholayar Forest (Kerala).
There seems only to be few records of birds showing characters of the 'Phillippine' Shrike from Southern India. The birds seen were not difficult to pick up with its grey crown and distinct mask only bordered by a narrow white line above. First reaction was 'Common Woodshrike'.

Not a high quality picture but the digiscoped photo is at least documentation of an adult 'Phillippine' Shrike near Hornbill Camp on 29/1.
