

PERU : 19 to 21 August 2017

5 years ago, my guide about Junin Grebe, Alejandro Tello (ateguevara@gmail.com) told me about Andean Cat living in a rocky slope just above Junin Lake. So, on August 2017 during a trip to South America I decided to spend 3 days with him at Junin.

On the first day, at midday, we flush out an Andean Cat at 4100 m high near the village of Ondores and we found droppings of cat and remains of rabbit (an introduced species) and viscachas. The cat disappeared in a big hole in the rocks. We tried to see it again at night for a long time but nothing.

On the second day, at 11am, we flush out again an Andean cat, likely the same individual, sleeping in the sun on tall dry grass. Again he disappeared in a hole.

Unfortunately , I must leave early on the third day and I can't search the cat again.
